

Keynote: #Relationship

What you can learn from a marriage between a secret agent and a professional athlete.

Do you want new and positive impulses for your company, your surroundings or yourself? This captivating Keynote will help you gain the courage and motivation to strike new paths and discover what you need to reach ambitious goals. Together, Susanne and Matthias Knossalla will show you how to use differences as a factor of success in your surroundings or your company.

Let yourself and your participants be “infected” with and motivated to a positive change in your company’s climate, life in general and a success-oriented way of thinking.
